Crestliner's legacy began in 1946. Eighteen years later, when they began welding their hulls in 1964, the riveted boat companies thought it would never last. They couldn't perfect it, so they assumed no one else could either. Crestliner proved them wrong with their revolutionary tongue-and-groove UniWeld construction. Now, virtually every leading aluminum boat manufacturer has attempted to match Crestliner's level of innovation and quality. They say imitation is the highest form of flattery. At Crestliner, they happily agree.
